

THE GREYHOUND

PUBLISHED BI-WEEKLY BY THE STUDENTS OF LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. VIII

TUESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1935

No. 7

FRESHMAN HOP TO BE HELD ON INTER-SEMESTER HOLIDAY IN NEW BALLROOM OF STAFFORD HOTEL

WALTER ROUSTON'S MUSIC

Hall Recently Decorated In Blue and Cream Color Scheme

With various committees completed and definite plans made, the Freshman Class will hold its annual Hop on February the first, in the ballroom of the Stafford Hotel. Walter Rouston's Orchestra will furnish the music. The price of the dance, a semi-formal affair, will be $1.65, including tax.

The Stafford, located at Charles and Madison Streets, has been entirely renovated and is furnished in an ultra-modern manner. The dance floor is large and spacious, finished in blue and cream decorations, and is equipped with indirect lighting effects.

Ideal Location

The Freshman Class is following the example of the Sophomore Class in choosing a location that is novel, as far as Loyola social affairs go. In selecting Rouston's Orchestra the Freshmen have also

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Second Library Dance Held During Christmas Holidays

The second Interclass Dance took the form of a scholastic Yuletide celebration, being staged in the Library on the day after Christmas. Jim Bradley's Marylanders supplied the melodic interludes as Loyola students and their friends danced in the bibliothecal ball-room.

By means of coloring the center lighting fixtures, a different illumination effect was achieved than that which prevailed at the first interclass affair. The new Loyola banner was proudly displayed in a fitting manner by being placed over the central en-

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

CONDOLENCES

The Faculty and Student Body wish to express their condolences to Joseph J. Mack, '37, and to his family, upon the recent death of his father. Mr. Mack is the Advertising Manager of the Greyhound.

We also wish to extend our sympathies to Bernard B. Hoffman, whose father died on Christmas Eve.

Seniors Make Definite Plans For 1935 College Year Book

Annual Will Be Dedicated To Father Joseph Ayd, S.J., Of College Faculty

Plans for the 1935 Year Book are now taking definite shape. The Annual will be dedicated to Father Joseph J. Ayd, S.J., of the college faculty. The financial arrangements which always play such an important part in these enterprises are progressing nicely. Senior pictures and those of the underclass officers have been taken and the group pictures of the lower classes, clubs and teams will be taken in near future.

Dedicated

Father Ayd in his position as Professor of Sociology has had intimate contact with the

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 1)

ATHLETIC COUNCIL PLANS FOR INTRAMURAL COURT COMPETITION

PLAY BEGINS THIS WEEK

The Student Intramural Athletic Council has announced that play in the intramural league will begin this week. Each class is allowed to place as many teams composed of eight players as it wishes into competition.

Defending Champs

The present Senior class will have the same team back which won the championship play-off last year, as well as several other teams. The defending championship team will be composed of Stallo, Roesser, Cummings, O'Hare, Cunningham, Kammer and Wright. Stern competition will be furnished the champs by the Freshman team which has made a good record so far against local high schools in games preliminary to the Varsity contests. The Sophs and Juniors, not to be outdone, are also mustering their strongest arrays to gain the coveted intra-mural laurels.

Rules for the games will be posted as soon as competition begins. Most of the contests will be arranged to start at 2.45 P. M. Any team not appearing fifteen minutes after scheduled game time will forfeit that game. In order to further the idea that

(Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

FORMER EDITOR

ROGER E. LEWIS, JR., '35

FIRST EVERGREEN 'GRADS' MEET AGAIN AT COLLEGE

TEACHERS PRESENT

Sixteen members of the class of 1922, the first class to graduate from Evergreen, held a reunion in the cafeteria of the college recently. The dinner was a gala affair and there were decorations to lend cheerfulness to the first "get-together" the class has had since graduation.

Eight Priests

It was revealed that eight of the sixteen graduates had entered the priesthood, five in the Society of Jesus, three in the secular clergy. Besides being the first class to graduate from Evergreen, the class of '22 also set many other

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

Calendar

Jan. 15—Chem. Lecture. Dr. R. M. McKinney, Ph.D., on "Chemical Problems in Pigment Manufacture."

Jan. 16—Basketball. Mt. St. Mary's, at Emmitsburg.

Jan. 19 — Basketball. Hopkins at home.

Jan. 21 — Mid-Year Exams start.

Jan. 26 — Basketball. Washington College at home.

Jan. 31—Mid-Year Exams end.

Feb. 1 — Inter-semester Holiday.

Freshman Hop, at the Stafford, with Walter Rouston.

Feb. 2—Basketball. Western Maryland, at home.

Feb. 4—Chemistry Seminar.

EUGENE F. JENDREK SUCCEEDS ROGER E. LEWIS AS EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF COLLEGE PUBLICATION

Dean O'Malley To Test Dramatic Ability Of Aspiring Thespians

Talent Displayed In Tryouts Will Determine The Future Of Dramatics At Loyola

Previous issues of the Greyhound voiced quite an extensive appeal for dramatics at Loyola. The request did not go unheeded,—Dean O'Malley posted a list of prospective enthusiasts who were given speeches from Shakespeare's Julius Caesar to prepare for a tryout. This action was taken just before the Christmas holidays, and the tryouts will take place before the beginning of the mid-year exams. The results of these will definitely determine the future of dramatic activity at Loyola College.

The thespians are very hopeful and promise interest—

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

G. D'AMBROGI DELIVERS TALK BEFORE MENDEL CLUB MEETING

LECTURE CONCERNS BLOOD

"We read in the old romances that when a man sold his soul to the Powers of Darkness, it was customary for him to sign the agreement with his blood. In this way presumably, he left upon the paper something that was a characteristic part of himself, and so made the contract more binding... this belief that an individual is in some special way represented by his blood has found scientific support in recent years."

So stated Mr. Giulio D. D'Ambrogi, '35, speaking on "Blood," at the meeting of the Mendel Club held on Jan. 10.

Primitive Beliefs

He began his lecture with a survey of the primitive beliefs regarding the nature and function of blood.

"Whether or not man knew of its chemical functions... he certainly knew that it was a life-giving fluid flowing within his body... The Bible makes this evident by its many narrations of the blood sacrifices of old."

The speaker then told how the circulatory system is designed to carry the blood throughout the body, "The circulatory system is the mechanism that attends to the needful transportation of

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

MULLEN MANAGING EDITOR

Emory, Dinan, And McGonigle To Write Columns; Cichelli Is Sports Editor

Eugene F. Jendrek has been named Editor-in-Chief of the Greyhound to succeed Roger E. Lewis. This was one of the many changes, effective with this issue, announced by Mr. Joseph Kelley, S.J., Literary Moderator of the paper. The new Editor has served for two years on the staff as an Associate and later Managing Editors.

Lawrence T. Mullen will become Managing Editor, succeeding Mr. Jendrek at that post. Mr. Mullen formerly handled the Alumni Chatter.

Numerous Changes

As foreshadowed in the Christmas issue by the withdrawal of the Senior members from the staff to start work on their annual, numerous other changes have also been made. Andrew Cichelli is the new Sports Editor, taking over the duties of Frank Wright. Joseph Mack remains

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Meeting of Chemistry Seminar Outlines Schedule of Speakers

At a meeting of the Chemistry Seminar held on Jan. 9, the schedule of the lectures to be given by the members was mapped out. The meetings will be held in the Chemistry Lecture room on Tuesdays at 10.00 A. M., two speakers appearing on each date. The schedule follows:

February 4—

"The Colorimetric Determination of Ph Constants."—Edward M. Hanzely, '36.

"Oils", William H. Kammer, '35.

February 25—

"Tungsten," John C. Osborne, '37.

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

All those interested in joining the Advertising Staff of the Greyhound are requested to meet in Room 212 of the Science Building at 12:10 on Wednesday, January 16.

A TEN PERCENT commission will be paid to those securing ads.

THE GREYHOUND

LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. VIII Baltimore, Maryland No. 7

Editor-in-Chief

EUGENE F. JENDREK, '36

Managing Editor

LAWRENCE T. MULLEN, '37

Sports Editor

ANDREW E. CICHELLI, '36

Circulation Manager

FRANCIS B. EASTMAN, JR., '36

Advertising Manager

JOSEPH J. MACK, '37

Associate Editors

PHILIP L. DOUGHERTY, '37

JOHN O. HERMANN, '37

Departments

JOHN J. DINAN, '36

WILLIAM D. MCGONIGLE, '37

THOMAS J. EMORY, '37

News Staff

F. KENNARD DILL, '36

RICHARD T. CAREY, '38

ROBERT B. MAGUIRE, '36

CHARLES FISHER, '38

WILLIAM J. O'DONNELL, '37

PHILIP MCGREEVY, '38

Published Bi-Weekly

Subscription $2.00

The Staff Changes

As announced in the Christmas issue, the Senior members of the Greyhound Staff have withdrawn to start work on the Green and Gray, and this edition marks the maiden effort of their successors.

The average student, in looking upon the columns which were mainly the work of our predecessors, cannot realize the amount of effort expended from the time assignments are conceived until the printed page is in his hand to read. Taking into comparison other college publications of similar nature and considering the limitations necessarily imposed, they have done much for the Greyhound and their work is deserving of highest praise.

At the outset, to get our ideas straight, it might be of general interest to call attention to the following quotation from the College catalog in reference to the Greyhound: "Its aims are dual. It seeks to chronicle the activities of the College in all fields, for a chronicle serves to sustain interests in student activities. Its second aim is to offer Loyola students an opportunity at literary self-expression and business direction."

In chronicling the news of the College the Greyhound cannot carry stories of immediate interest, as a daily paper does, for the very simple reason that events will not happen in every fortnight on the day before we go to press. It always has been, and will be, the policy of the Greyhound to give collegiate activities the benefit of its columns in the order of their importance and interest. The number of extra-curricular activities and their participants gives evident proof that interest has been sustained and furthered in them.

With respect to the other aim of the Greyhound, offering students an opportunity at literary self-expression and business direction, there is much to be said. It is our desire to keep this paper on a high literary plane. It is also a true but lamentable fact that the Greyhound does not have all the better writers of the school on its staff for the reason that they are not interested. This does not imply criticism in any way of the present staff which is the most loyal an editor could ask for. But we would like to have others write or express their opinions in our columns, either as staff members or more particularly in letters to the editor. Those who have any opinions to express are earnestly requested to make use of the Greyhound's open forum. We would also like to state that we are willing to publish poems, stories or essays which are of general interest and literary merit. By these means we hope to make the Greyhound of concern and interest to all while avoiding that staid triteness which is anathema to any live publication.

In the process of getting things off our chest we finally come to the business end of the Greyhound. Anyone cognizant with publishing knows that it is the advertising that makes the existence of a paper of this sort possible. The quality and quantity of the ads is dependent upon the circulation guaranteed and this in turn is entirely contingent with its saleable interest to readers.

Thus, as stated above, our primary aim will be to make the paper of genuine personal interest to students, alumni and friends of Loyola. A regular business staff will be organized to secure the type of advertising which the Greyhound deserves. When these two phases are taken care of satisfactorily, the circulation will take care of itself.

Campus Clippings

J. J. D.

IN MEMORIAM

From our midst they have gone. No longer the sound of their voices nor the tap of their typewriters will be heard. Into that oblivion from which there is no return, our esteemed friends have departed. Though the fates had destined that they were sure to leave in the end, the parting seemed to have come before their time of service had expired. They are buried in the grave they have fashioned for themselves and over them press heavily the thousands of words they have penned. Their co-workers of the 'Hound staff bid them a final good-bye as they closed the door in leaving. Then a Yip-pee—Cheer—and a Huzzah or two—the Seniors had left the staff.—R. I. P.

* * *

With this issue, practically an entire new staff comes into control of the Greyhound. Your Clipper is one of the newcomers and to start off on the right foot, these resolutions are hereby adopted:

Never to use (Ed. note) to make a quip or pun out of an otherwise humorless phrase or story.

Never to fill in the Clipper Column with jokes made at the expense of the Evergreen Reflector.

Never to print jokes that are over ten days old (an innovation in this column).

Never to get mogigraphia. News Items:—

An up-and-coming freshman volunteers the suggestion that since the College has gone in for sponsoring dances in a big way, a Terpsichorean Class should be added to the curriculum.

Cunningham, Feeney and Farley were reported having been seen window-shopping at a local jeweler's before the holidays.

The new G. M. * Club is happy to report that new members have been won to its ranks. Dr. Klotzman was chosen honorary vice-president at their last meeting; the minutes revealed Shea has broken the solemn oath and had his misplaced eyebrow trimmed.

*Greater Mustache.

* * *

The mystery of the hour: What's hidden under Charles Treppe's scarf?

* * *

"Most every man has one or several silly phobias that make him appear an old grump. An outstanding one of mine is: Having a thread or an other particle of lint picked off my clothing by another."—B. B.

Evergreen Reflections

T. J. E.

The Collegiate Resolutionist

He begins to think of New Year's resolutions about Dec. 1. He runs through a long list of things he does or doesn't do, as the case may be, and tries to pick an even ten he might possibly keep as New Year's resolutions. He asks the advice of his teacher—and gets it. Then Mother and Dad are invited to offer any suggestions,—and they do. Of course this rarely happens any more. But it used to be an annual occurrence when Mother was a little girl and had a small brother. But you know how some fellows are nowadays. What? You're a fella' yourself, heh? Well then, I beg your pardon. No offense meant. I was thinking about some of my "nize frands." (You have to hold your nose to get the right accent of those last two words in the preceding sentence). But—yes, I know we are digressing. However the dawn of Dec. 31 rolls around and he still is undecided. By noon he is in a quandary; by nightfall he is in a muddle; about eleven o'clock he decides to get down to brass tacks so he sits on Mother's hair sofa. Slowly he tears his list into small pieces. One resolve is written on each paper. Altogether there are about twenty-five. Now for the climax—you guessed it. He takes Father's hat and drops the paper in. No he doesn't shake it. He passes the hat around to Mother and Dad and his little sister Leontine.—How d'ya like that Mac? Is that the way you spell it?—Each one draws three resolutions out of the hat. He of course takes the tenth and final one. "He would—just when I'm thirsty." (Quoting Blair).

Here are the resolutions. I bet if you look in the wastebasket you will find that many of yours are similar to these:

- 1) I resolve to study hard, or harder anyway. But first I resolve to study.
- 2) I resolve not to go out any more if I don't get invited—at least not without inviting myself. (Be careful Fritz—Joe—Vernon, whatever your name is.)
- 3) I resolve to stay away from girls. They don't seem to like me. But on the other hand I better not. They can't ALL like me.
- 4) I resolve to smoke more, but to buy less cigarettes. How? Chisel them!
- 5) I resolve to stay home if I don't go out.
- 6) I resolve to clean Dad's car every week—if he will pay me.
- 7) I resolve to help Mother more by taking care of Rosemary—P. S. I'm slipping. It should be Leontine, sez you.
- 8) I resolve to ease the teacher's care-burdened mind. Teachers get that way. No more homework for me.
- 9) I resolve to be indifferent to the jibes of my friends YAS you!
- 10) I resolve to quit joking. No one laughs anymore. There must still be a depression, for the jokes are good. Oh yeah!

And so it goes on from one year to another and never a resolution without an appendix or an appendage or at least something appended which makes every resolve null and void. Time is wasted. Good time too, eh Charley?—which might easily be used in attempting to improve this column.

Ho-hum! It is getting late. I just heard the bats strike twelve in the belfrey. I'm going to bed, but before I retire let me correct an erroneous opinion of the word, "column." A column is often called a pillar or vice-versa, but if you call writing this column a pillar you are dead wrong for there is nothing soft about writing it at all. I'm going to prove it by sleeping on a pillar.

THEY ARE LIKE THAT

1

Now listen dear,
I still adhere
That women shouldn't smoke.

2

So don't you do it
Or you'll rue it
For I shall start to choke.

3

She smiled at him—
To spite his whim
She lit a cigarette.

4

Her throat's still sore
She'll smoke no more
At least not soon, I'll bet.

G. D'AMBROGI DELIVERS TALK
BEFORE MENDEL CLUB MEETING

LECTURE CONCERNS BLOOD

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 4)

various substances within the organism, supplying food to the cells and removing their waste products."

"Blood is not a lifeless fluid, but a circulating tissue, made up of living, detached cells floating in a liquid plasma and capable of metabolic changes," stated the speaker.

Disc-Shaped Cells

The blood itself, which examined under a microscope is found to consist of reddish disc-shapped cells or erythrocytes in which the life-giving substance—hemaglobin, is deposited. They have no nuclei, are soft and flexible so that they squeeze through openings less than their own diameter.

Mr. D'Ambrogi concluded by mentioning the work that has been done within comparatively recent years in identifying a blood sample with the type of animal from which it comes.

Gives Information

"Blood not only tells about differences and relationships between species, but is beginning to do so in the case of individuals belonging to the same species. In certain cases where relationship is that of parent to child, blood is capable of telling a great deal.

As yet it does not tell us all that we wish to ask it. We must remember, however that studies of this sort have been in progress for not more than a third of a century."

"Only a very rash prophet would try to predict what blood will be capable of telling one or two hundreds years from now," were Mr. D'Ambrogi's concluding words.

Second Library Dance Held
During Christmas Holidays

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

trance with its folds bathed in the rays of concealed spotlights. Banked about the orchestra platform were evergreens in keeping with the season.

During the intermission refreshments were served to the dancers in the cafeteria.

Out in Chicago a goldfish was found with a red cross on its back. The workmen who found it called it a freak. We also find those little red marks on our blue-books, but they are anything but freaks, since they occur after every test.

Mid-Year Examination Schedule

MONDAY, JANUARY 21, 1935

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	Ethics	Room 103	Father Anable
		Ethics	Room 203	Father Gillis
	Junior	Philosophy	Room 101	Father Goeghan
		Philosophy	Room 201	Father Jacobs
	Sophomore	English	Room 204	Mr. McCorry
		English	Room 200	Father Reynolds
	Freshman	English	Room 104	Mr. Kelly
		English	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Reardon

TUESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1935

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	English	Room 103	Father Fremgen
9:30-11:30	Senior	Mathematics	Room 203	Dr. Harry
12:40- 2:40	Senior	Sociology	Room 103	Father Ayd
9:30-11:30	Junior	English	Room 103	Father Fremgen
9:30-11:30	Junior	Mathematics	Room 203	Dr. Harry
12:40- 2:40	Junior	Economics	Room 203	Mr. Kelley
9:30-11:30	Sophomore	Apologetics	Room 201	Father Risacher
9:30-11:30	Sophomore	Apologetics	Room 204	Mr. McCorry
9:30-11:30	Freshman	Apologetics	Room 101	Father Anable
		Apologetics	Room 104	Mr. Reardon

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1935

A. M.
8:50	Senior	Orals	Board A	Room 103	PP. Gillis & Fremgen
		Orals	Board B	Room 203	PP. Ayd & Goegan
		Orals	Board C	Room 202	PP. Anable & Love
9:30-11:30	Junior	Apologetics	Room 101	Mr. Doehler
		Apologetics	Room 201	Mr. McCorry
	Sophomore	Latin Province Exam	Room 204	Mr. Kelly
		Classical Literature	Room 200	Father Risacher
	Freshman	Classical Literature	Room 200	Father Risacher

THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1935

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	Organic Chemistry	Room 210 Sc.	Father Schmitt
		History III	Room 203	Dr. Bowen
	Junior	Analytic Chemistry	Room 210 Sc.	Father Schmitt
		History III	Room 203	Dr. Bowen
	Sophomore	Analytic Chemistry	Room 210 Sc.	Father Schmitt
		History I	Room 201	Mr. Doehler
	Freshman	Latin Province Exam	Room 104	Mr. McCorry
		Mathematics B. S.	Room 101	Mr. Reardon

FRIDAY, JANUARY 25, 1935

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	Apologetics	Room 103	Father Fremgen
		Apologetics	Room 203	Father Anable
	Junior	Physics A.B. and Ph.B.	Room 207 Sc.	Father Love
		Physics B.S.	Room 210 Sc.	Dr. Harry
	Sophomore	Mathematics	Room 101	Mr. Kelley
		Greek	Room 200	Mr. McCorry
	Freshman	Mathematics	Room 201	Mr. Egerton
		Greek	Room 200	Mr. McCorry

MONDAY, JANUARY 28, 1935

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	Psychology	Room 103	Mr. Kelly
		Psychology	Room 203	Mr. McCorry
8:50	Junior	Orals	Board A	Room 104	PP Gillis & Fremgen
		Orals	Board B	Room 204	PP Ayd & Goegan
		Orals	Board C	Room 202	PP Anable & Love
9:30-11:30	Sophomore	Physics B.S.	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Reardon
		Physics B.S.	Room 210 Sc.	Mr. Doehler
	Freshman	Physics B.S.	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Reardon
		Physics B.S.	Room 210 Sc.	Mr. Doehler

TUESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1935

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	Biology I and II	Room 306 Sc.	Father Frisch
		Biology I and II	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Egerton
		History II	Room 101	Mr. Doehler
		History II	Room 103	Mr. Reardon
	Junior	Biology I, II	Room 306 Sc.	Father Frisch
		Biology I, II	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Egerton
		History II	Room 103	Mr. Doehler
		History II	Room 203	Mr. Reardon
	Sophomore	Biology I, II	Room 306 Sc.	Father Frisch
		Biology I, II	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Egerton
	Freshman	French	Room 104	Mr. Scrimger
		German I	Room 201	Father Hacker
		German II	Room 200	Mr. Kelly

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1935

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	Physical Chemistry	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Polly
	Sophomore	Inorganic Chemistry	Room 210 Sc.	Father Schmitt
		Inorganic Chemistry	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Polly
	Freshman	Inorganic Chemistry	Room 210 Sc.	Father Schmitt
		Inorganic Chemistry	Room 207 Sc.	Mr. Polly

Alumni Doings

W. D. McG.

Since the last issue of the Greyhound, Christmas and New Years have come and gone, the staff has been changed, and this is the first Alumni column of the new year by the new editor. Last of all, but not least (we like to keep the best things till last) many things have taken place in the lives of those that have departed, as students, from these portals forever.

Walt Dunne and Joe Morisi, former stars on the Greyhound eleven, have not lost interest in football. During the football season, they played on Sunday for the Irvington semi-pro team.

Honor has come to another member of the same class. Al Petersam was recently elected President of St. Catherine's Holy Name Society.

Best of luck, Al, keep up the good work.

Those living in the Waverly section of the city may be interested to know that Leo Schuppert, class of '34, is employed by the Wagner Grocery Co.

Down the Aisle

Wedding bells have been ringing for two members of the Alumni. Bill Nahm, class of '33, married Miss Dorothy Jones at Sts. Philip and James Catholic Church, on Saturday, December 1st. Though we are a little late, Bill, Congratulations!

Another wedding of an alumnus that took place recently was that of Tony Azzarello, class of '34, and former guard on the Evergreen eleven. He was married to Miss Josephine Mary Pittarra, at St. Ambrose Catholic Church, on Sunday, January 6th, 1935. Best of luck, Tony!

Chess Champ

Dr. Frank DiPaula, class of '22, an ardent chess fan, gave an exhibition of his ability when he engaged in a chess meet recently with members of the Loyola Chess Club.

Since they are well represented in the educational and business worlds, the alumni are not to be outdone in political life.

When State's Attorney J. Bernard Wells, '04, selected the new members of his staff, George L. Lochboehler, '27, was one of those appointed assistant State's Attorney.

* * *

Herbert R. O'Connor, '17, Attorney-General of Maryland, was recently inducted into that office. Congratulations to Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Wells, and Mr. Lochboehler!

* * *

Flash! Certain members of the Alumni have expressed a desire for an Alumni Sodality, and plans are afoot to start its organization. Since this is the first announcement in this column, and plans are not definite, we hope to have more news about this in the next issue.

* * *

Going about here and there among last year's graduates we learned that:

George Waidner, former captain of the varsity football squad, is now employed by the Service Department of Swift and Company.

Joe Stann is employed by the local office of the Felt and Tarrant Comptometer Co.

Edgar Steffee is working with his father in Philadelphia.

Another note: Congratulations are in order for John Kohlhepp, '31, who recently became the proud father of a son.

By the way, Mr. Kohlhepp is employed by the Federal Tin Co., and Bill Foard, ex '36, is his assistant.

Seniors Make Definite Plans For 1935 College Year Book

Annual Will Be Dedicated To Father Joseph Ayd, S.J., Of College Faculty

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2)

Seniors for the past two years and it was felt that by dedicating their Annual to him the class of 1935 would be able to express to some degree their appreciation for his work in their behalf.

The business staff, under the energetic direction of Frank Wright, has made admirable progress in securing advertisements and even better success is expected now that business is entering upon a new fiscal year. The staff has also decided to run a series of card parties and dances in the succeeding months to aid in securing the requisite funds to insure the success of their venture.

Pictures Taken

Proofs of Senior pictures have just been returned. The group pictures will be taken the latter part of this month if present plans work out. As these pictures must be taken out of doors the editor is hoping for some show of cooperation on the part of the weather man.

Cribbings

"Onions are found to send out ultra-violet rays, says a science note. To say nothing of ultra-violent odors."—C. B.

FIRST 'GRADS' OF EVERGREEN MEET IN REUNION AT COLLEGE

TEACHERS PRESENT

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3) records. Four of its members starred on the Greyhound basketball team, and other members of the class brought fame to Loyola on the tennis court.

Among the members of the class now in religious orders, there were present: Father Roger J. Blankford, S.J., Arthur A. Coniff, S.J.; John J. Coniff, S.J., two members of this year's ordination class of Woodstock College: Rev. Mr. Kenneth L. Graham, S.J., and Rev. Mr. Edward A. Kerr, S.J.

Members of the secular clergy present: Revs. J. Jennings Clark, Joseph M. Nelligan, and William J. Sweeney.

Versatile Class

This class was a versatile one, for its members were well represented in the business and professional world. Those that make up this group are: Dr. Frank DiPaula, C. Ferd Sybert, Robert A. Collahan, Paul Menton, R. Emmett Bradley, Clarence J. Caulfield, Thomas J. Martin, Taylor Bouchelle, and Carroll A. Read.

The Rev. Joseph A. Canning, S.J., Rector, was guest of honor, and the Revs. Henry W. McLoughlin, S.J., Joseph J. Ayd, S.J., Thomas J. Love, S.J., and Joseph M. Kelly, S.J., former teachers of the class were present to meet again and talk over old times with their former pupils.

SHORT SHOTS

Most students are not aware that "Ace" Knight, the voice of one Thirsting in the Wilderness, who can now slake his thirst at the new fountains specially placed in the gym for his convenience, has brought to the Greyhound quint this year that dashing brand of play that he learned while playing for Miss Crosby's Catonsville Kindergarten team. Jules is one of the prominent alumni of the Catonsville school.

* * *

C. E. (Belair) Kelly who is one of Harford County's premier distance runners was recently quoted as claiming that he walked from Evergreen to Charles and Baltimore Streets in twenty minutes. He gave as an excuse for his slowness the fact that he hit too many red traffic lights. Maybe Loyola has some talent that will do well for developing for the 1936 Olympics. (Editor: how about a candidacy in Lowell Thomas' Tall Story Club).

On Dec. 29, Dr. Dipaula and Mr. Quinn, both outstanding chess experts in this city, played tandem the members of the Loyola College Chess Club.

The results of this meet were surprising. Out of the fifteen players present, Mr. Cichelli, who played two games, won one and lost one. Mr. Wisniewski also won and lost one. Mr. Cooper, who played but one game obtained a draw from these two formidable masters. These three students deserve to be congratulated on their victories over Mr. Quinn and Dr. Dipaula.

* * *

At last the tournament is under way and tension is running high. All those who can play the game of Kings, Queens, and Pawns are to be seen in the Rec Room pondering over the intricacies of the royal sport.

The first round of the Third Annual Tournament has just been completed; and those who have emerged unscathed are in high spirits, but are awaiting with anxiety the next round.

HERE AND THERE

Santa Clarans are annoyed with the freshmen of that institution. They aren't making enough noise.

—The freshmen are finally showing some sense.

—o—

It is a common belief that the average university student has acquired more than the average amount of knowledge for a person his age. This is particularly true of juniors and seniors. — The Daily Athenaeum.

Cheer up, Pups and Sophs.

—o—

There are now over 400 bicycles at Smith College at Northampton, Mass. They have become such a menace that the student government association is formulating special traffic rules. — The American Campus.

—o—

At a New England school the sophomores were caught hazing a youthful-looking teacher, whom they had mistaken to be a freshman. The president of the school became angry and abolished the freshman rules. So you sophomores had better be on the lookout for our young-looking teachers, lest the same fate befall you.

By the way, Mr. Carroll Quinn, our good friend, is going to give to each of the first three winning players a book on chess. This ought to be an added incentive to each and every member in the tournament.

* * *

Did you know:

1. In taking pawns, always jump towards the center.

2. Do not develop exclusively on one side.

3. Avoid exchanging Bishops for a Knight early in the game.

4. In selecting a sphere of action always move the pieces where they will command the greatest number of squares, have the greatest freedom of action, where they cannot be readily attacked or driven away, and where they will restrict or delay the opponents development.

* * *

The word Checkmate, used so often to denote a victory, came down to us from the old Indian "Shah maht" meaning the king is dead.

A nine hole golf course has been constructed on the Western Maryland campus. Perhaps we could squeeze one in on our campus, and the boys could take up that game during their free periods.

—o—

New wastebaskets have been installed at St. Norbert High School, West de Père, Wis. The baskets are made of fibre and are three feet high. The next time that we get some new baskets they should be three feet wide for those "punk shots" that always miss the basket by two or three feet.

—o—

With the new rule that the students should spend their free periods in the library, it is supposed that the librarians will be doubly busy putting books in their proper places, and collecting those left on the tables by students who were hurrying off to a class.

—o—

A fourteen-year-old boy saved a 250-pound man from drowning the other day at Easton, Md. If any of you freshmen would like to get some practice in life-saving of this sort, see Mr. Hoffman of the Junior Class.

Chick's Chatter

A. E. C.

Mere Speculation

Now that the holidays have come to an end, we may contemplate more seriously the basketball campaign to be launched by our 'Hounds. Their record up until this writing has been fair, though for the most part spotty. We can commend their play in each of those first games in so much as they gave everything they had in the way of fight and spirit. Nevertheless, it would be very nice indeed if, in the future a little matter like big league opposition will not over-awe and subdue the bearers of the Green and Gray.

I should, at this time, like to relieve my conscience of a small matter which has been troubling me no end these past days. My predecessor in this capacity predicted in a former editorial that Loyola would win the championship of the Maryland Collegiate League. To my mind, he was a trifle hasty and over enthusiastic in making such a statement. His reasoning that all the other league quints were being rebuilt with new and inexperienced players, whereas Loyola has a veteran team, was all well and good; but, nevertheless, Mr. Wright or Wrong had forgotten an essential and important element—the team's temperament.

Loyola should win undoubtedly with such a wealth of veteran material on hand. But will they? That depends entirely on the team and its aforementioned temperament. If the members of the team are willing to sacrifice all personal glory in order that they might play as one co-ordinating unit, I see no reason why they should not emerge State champs. On the other hand, if they should insist trying to outshine each other to the detriment of team play—well, you know the answer to that one! There will be no such tribute as the title, "Champions" attached to their name, if that type of basketball should be played.

Now, mind you, I am not claiming that teamwork has been lacking in the previous games; but, I do say that such a condition is a possibility. You may note that this defect seems to have been the main fault of some of Loyola's recent court aggregations which had begun their seasons with the same cockiness and confidence as the present squad. Remembering the words of Fr. Cerrute, "Verbum sap Satienti," once more my conscience is put to rest.

Team Suffers Casualty

As almost everyone knows by this time, the services of one of the Greyhounds' first string substitutes will not be available any more this year. I am speaking of one, Louis Bellestri, who just recently underwent an appendicitis operation and who is at present convalescing at his home. This is indeed a sad blow to the team and to the plans of Bill Liston, who was using Lou regularly. Let's hope Lou will be able to take to the court again next year and continue where he left off this year.

Here is a parting shot, before I sign off basketball. The Athletic Association has begun a feature which is new here at Loyola; viz., that of raffling off trips to out-of-town games! Indeed, it is a good idea and it certainly accomplishes its purpose of establishing interest in the student body in these games. Do you fellows realize what that means? Do you think the A. A. would have to resort to those means if you had shown a spark of school spirit? Not even considering the games played on the New York trip, the attendance at the home games was deplorable. In previous years the gym was filled at every home game. Don't tell me that a certain so-and-so doesn't like basketball. Well, whether she likes it or not, bring her along—she will enjoy watching a championship team in action.

A Garland to Harlow

It is with great pleasure that we extend our sincere congratulations to Dick Harlow. We, here at Loyola, know well enough how Mr. Harlow has merited beyond question the new position given him by Harvard University. No better man, as far as character and football ability is concerned, could have been obtained anywhere. We are confident that the charges made against him by the "Harvard Crimson" are without foundation, and we are just as confident that the journal will willingly retract its statement when its staff meets Mr. Harlow personally and becomes acquainted with his methods as well as we have here in the Free State. If anyone will bring the Crimson out of its football doldrums, it will be Dick!

Greyhounds In League Debut Against Mounts At Emmitsburg

Fr. Jacobs Offers Students
Special Rates For Game
On Wednesday Night

Tomorrow night at Emmitsburg the Greyhounds inaugurate their league season in a game with Mt. St. Mary's, a rival whose repute as their nemesis is well known. Loyola, it seems, never could do well on the Mount's small floor and will very likely find the going as tough as usual. Couple with this the facts that the Mountaineers are most anxious to make Loyola their first victim and that Loyola is eager to be off to a good start, then you can be sure of plenty action in tomorrow night's scramble.

Father Jacobs, who is trying to arouse interest in out-of-town games, has arranged to take a delegation of rooters to the game and back for $1.75. This includes admission to the game. A good number are expected to take advantage of this offer, not only for their own benefit, but for that of the team which needs their every whoop and yell to spur them on. Come on, one and all, let us watch Loyola hurdle its first obstacle to the championship.

Intramural Court Competition Planned By Athletic Council

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2)
all should take part in the intramurals, all the players on a team will be required to play at least a part of the game. This time will be determined at the next meeting of the Council.

Equipment

The players themselves will supply their own equipment except for jerseys which will be furnished by the basketball managers. This will aid players, when in the game, to more easily distinguish their team mates.

Coach Bill Liston will either referee the games himself, or if he is unable to do so, will appoint a Varsity squad member to officiate. On days that the Varsity has practice, the games will be on the side court, otherwise the intramuralists will battle on the center court.

Other Sports

The Siac also has announced that intramural volleyball and a boxing tournament will be staged later if there is sufficient demand for them. Those interested in these sports are requested to get in touch with their athletic representatives who will report on the demand for the furtherance of these or any other sports as intramurals.

LOYOLA RESUMES SCHEDULE BY DEFEATING NORMAL, 56-15

FROSH ALSO BEAT RIVALS

Loyola resumed its basketball schedule after the Christmas vacation last Tuesday night by swamping State Normal 56 to 15.

From the time Will Ferrarini caged a shot from the corner a few seconds after the opening tap till the last whistle, there was never any doubt as to the ultimate victor. The Greyhounds, making their first start since their rather unsuccessful New York trip flashed a passing attack and an eye for the basket which the inexperienced Teachers could not cope with. The first half saw all the Loyola players in fine form. Frank Tanneyhill, veteran center, was especially prominent, showing an almost uncanny eye and doing well on rebounds. The latter part of the first period Coach Liston tried out his reserves, working several combinations, all of which turned in creditable performances.

Improved Passing

The starting combination returned to the floor at the start of the second half and began pumping them in again with monotonous regularity. Captain Colvin who had contented himself principally with feeding in the opening period, found his eye and caged five double deckers in rapid order. Charley Wayson, freshman flash, also showed fine form in this half. While the team gave a remarkable exhibition of shooting, the most pleasing feature of the contest in the opinion of the student body was the improved passing of the club which brought back memories of the days when Coach Liston himself sported a Loyola uniform.

Tanneyhill and Colvin with seven two pointers each led the Greyhounds in scoring. Wheeler, who counted ten of Normal's fifteen points, and Rankin, a clever floor man, were the leaders for the Teachers.

Preliminary Game

In a ragged game, the Freshman defeated Calvert Hall 13 to 10 preliminary to the Varsity encounter. With but two minutes remaining, the score stood 9-8 in the Frosh's favor when Costello and Lentz scored, giving the Loyola youngsters a lead which the High School boys, despite a last minute basket by Maus, could not overcome.

N. Y. Trip Proves Unsuccessful For Liston's Fighting 'Hounds

Squad Unable To Cope With Talented Opponents In Gotham District

Loyola's trip to New York was not as successful as it might have been, the 'Hounds having been defeated by both St. John's of Brooklyn and City College of New York, two stellar quints.

In a hard fought contest, St. John's registered its third straight triumph of the season at the expense of the Greyhounds by a score of 49-32. Despite the one-sided score, the Redmen were hard pressed to win, and until Captain Colvin was ejected from the game on fouls, Loyola was trailing by only five points and in a good position to come out as victor. Unable to break through an impregnable St. John's defense, Loyola resorted to long shots, the success of which kept them within range of the Brooklyn team.

C. C. N. Y. Game

The following night against a fast-stepping C. C. N. Y. team, the Greyhounds, because of a slow start and despite a second half rally in which they outscored their opponents 16-14, became the forty-second straight team to lose on the home court of the Lavendars. The final score was 32-20. For eighteen and a half minutes of the first half, the metropolitan team did not allow the Greyhounds a basket from the floor, and held a commanding lead of 18-4 at the intermission, that insured them of victory.

Tanneyhill with 14 points and Colvin with 13 were the leading scorers for Loyola on the trip. At the present time, Colvin is setting the pace for the state's scorers.

BOX SCORE

Loyola

Ferrarini	4	3-4	11
Gromacki	1	1-1	3
Colvin	7	0-0	14
Tanneyhill	7	0-0	14
Bossle	0	0-0	0
Wayson	4	0-0	8
Carney	1	0-1	2
Knight	1	2-2	4
Matricciani	0	0-0	0

Total

25 6-8 56

State Normal

Novey	0	2-2	2
Turke	1	0-0	2
Wheeler	4	2-2	10
Cole	0	1-1	1
Rankin	0	0-1	0
Woronka	0	0-0	0

Total

5 5-6 15

Telephone: UNIVERSITY 3500

GEO. J. STORCK & SON

LUMBER

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Flooring, Wallboard, etc.
2406-18 GREENMOUNT AVENUE

EUGENE JENDREK IS NEW EDITOR OF GREYHOUND

SUCCEEDS ROGER E. LEWIS

Other Members Of Staff To Fill Positions Vacated
By Retiring Seniors

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5)

as Advertising Manager, but there will be a new Circulation Manager in the person of Frank Eastman who succeeds Philip Dougherty. Mr. Dougherty will take over an Associate Editorship along with Jack Herrman who comes up from the News Staff.

In the matter of Departments a complete change will be effective. William McGonigle will chronicle the activities of former Loyola men as Alumni Editor. After much discussion, Thomas Emory has been assigned the Evergreen Reflections column and John Dinan will do the Campus Clippings.

Robert Maguire, Kennard Dill, William O'Donnell, Richard Carey, Charles Fisher, and James McGreevy, having served their apprenticeships, are now members of the News Staff.

In the near future a Chess Department Editor and an entirely new post in the Greyhound, an Exchange Editor, will be appointed, as well as additional News Staff men.

Advertising Campaign

As announced in another place in this issue a drive will be made by the Greyhound for more advertising. By way of encouragement a ten percent commission will be paid to those securing ads. A business Staff will be organized by advertising manager Joseph Mack under the direction of Mr. Vincent P. McCorry, S.J., Business Moderator of the Greyhound.

Meeting of Chemistry Seminar Outlines Schedule of Speakers

Lectures Will Be Held Weekly
In Chemistry Lecture Room
On Topics Of Interest

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5)

"Perfumes," J. Leo Martin, '37.

March 18—

"The Chemistry of Respiration," Raymond M. Cunningham, '35.

"Thermodynamics," Jack E. Cochrane, '35.

April 8—

"Radium: Its Characteristics and Uses," Benedict F. Smith, '35.

"The Chemistry of the Blood," James N. Cianos, '35.

May 6—
"Interesting Biochemical Products," Edward L. Molz, '35.

"Heavy Water," Kenneth J. Stallo, '35.

FRESHMAN HOP TO BE HELD IN BALLROOM OF STAFFORD

ROUSTON'S ORCHESTRA

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

shown good judgement, for the band is well-known, having played at other Loyola dances, and also at the Mission dance, two years ago. He has been featured this year at the University of Virginia Alumni dances in Washington. The orchestra, composed of nine players, plays the type of smooth music made popular by Guy Lombardo.

The interclass dance originally scheduled for February the first, has been postponed, in order to give the Freshmen a clear field on that night.

The Freshmen Dance Committee, consisting of class officers and representatives from each section, is in charge of the sale of the tickets.

Dean O'Malley To Test Dramatic Ability Of Aspiring Thespians

Talent Displayed In Tryouts
Will Determine The Future
Of Dramatics At Loyola

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 4)

ing interpretations of the selected parts. No doubt they will be of varying natures, which should perhaps bring to light a new Antony, never imagined before. No definite plans have been promulgated concerning a production, since everything depends on the ability displayed in the tryouts.

THOMAS F. CARNEY

Restaurant

23 LIGHT STREET

CALVERT 5739

Baltimore, Maryland

Did you ever notice..in a roomful of people..the difference between one cigarette and another..and wonder why Chesterfields have such a pleasing aroma

Many things have to do with the aroma of a cigarette . . . the kind of tobaccos they are made of . . . the way the tobaccos are blended . . . the quality of the cigarette paper.

IT takes good things to make good things.

Someone said that to get the right aroma in a cigarette, you must have the right quantity of Turkish tobacco—and that's right.

But it is also true that you get a pleasing aroma from the home-grown tobaccos . . . tobaccos filled with Southern Sunshine, sweet and ripe.

When these tobaccos are all blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way, balanced one against the other, you get a flavor and fragrance that's different from other cigarettes.

THE GREYHOUND

PUBLISHED BI-WEEKLY BY THE STUDENTS OF LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. VIII

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1935

No. 8

COLLEGES TO ATTEND CATHOLIC STUDENTS' PEACE CONFERENCE

MEETING AT NOTRE DAME

Jack Cochrane, Senior, Will
Speak As Representative
Of Loyola College

The Catholic Association For International Peace will sponsor a conference to be held at Notre Dame College on February 9, for the purpose of furthering the interest of world peace. Loyola College and Mt. St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, the Catholic University and Trinity College of Washington, and Rosemont College of Pennsylvania have been asked to participate.

Loyola Speaker

The morning session will consist of talks by representative students of the participating colleges. Mr. Jack Cochrane, President of Senior, will represent Loyola, and will speak on "The Ethics Of War and International Morality." Other speakers and their topics are:

John H. McDonald, '36, of Catholic University: "The Youth Movement In Relation To War."

Helen Morningstar, '36, of Notre Dame College:

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

FRESHMAN OFFER NOVELTIES AT ANNUAL MID-TERM HOP

ROUSTON'S ORCHESTRA

Last Friday, in the ballroom of the Stafford, the annual mid-term Freshman Hop was held.

The newly-decorated ballroom of the Stafford was an ideal place, and the committee showed good judgment in their choice. We must give them credit for knowing how to pick an orchestra. Walter Rouston's Orchestra played rhythmically all evening, and was generous in playing requests made by the dancers.

Novelties

A novel touch was furnished when the members of the orchestra wore the famous 'Freshman Caps.' This arrangement had been made in advance, but had been kept well under cover, so that it came by way of surprise. Another novelty was the playing of the School Song, which was

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

REV. JOHN G. HACKER, S.J.

FR. HACKER RE-ELECTED VICE- PRESIDENT OF GOETHE SOCIETY

CHOSEN FOR THIRD YEAR

Address At Last Meeting Of Society; Enthusiastically
Received By Members

For the third consecutive year, Rev. John G. Hacker, S.J., Professor of German at Loyola, has been elected Vice President of the Maryland Chapter of the Goethe Society of America. This Society which originated in Germany, was founded to perpetuate the memory of the great German writer.

Speaker

The Society has spread through America, with branches in New York and Baltimore. It was at a meeting held on January 12, that Father Hacker was re-elected, and on this occasion, Father

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Mr. Phelan Delivers Lecture On Catherine The Great Of Russia

Pres. Of History Academy
Relates Success Of
Her Reign

On Monday, February 4, Mr. Patrick C. Phelan, President of the History Academy, addressed that body on the subject of "Catherine The Great."

Mr. Phelan started his lecture with a recounting of the conditions in Russia at the time of Catherine's youth. Catherine, or Sophia, as she was called at the time, was chosen as the consort for the physically and mentally weak Peter III. Soon after their marriage, Peter retreated to his villa at Roptcha where he was murdered by his body-

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

FEB. 22 IS DATE SET FOR ANNUAL CRUSADE DANCE

MARYLAND CASUALTY SCENE

Dick Moul And His Weldon
Hall Orchestra Will Be Featured

The annual Crusade Dance, sponsored by the C. S. M. C. and the A. S. M. U. of which the Loyola College unit is a member, will be held at the Maryland Casualty Ballroom on Washington's Birthday, Friday, February 22. Dick Moul and his Weldon Hall Orchestra will furnish the music for this, the sixth annual affair of the Baltimore Conference.

Strictly Formal

As in former years, dress will be strictly formal in order to maintain the tradition of the Crusade, or Mission Dance, as it is also known, as being one of the very smart social events of the winter. Tickets are two dollars per couple while patronships are

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Archbishop Presents Awards To Loyolans At Mission Rally

The annual rally of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade and the Archdiocesan Students' Mission Union was held at the Cathedral on Mission Sunday, January 20. The inclemency of the weather prevented the scheduled parade, but it did not prevent an inspiring demonstration by the students as an indication of their interest in the home and foreign missions.

Archbishop Presides

Archbishop Curley presided at the services. Father John A. Risacher, S.J., of Loyola, was an assistant to the Arch-

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

Calendar

Feb. 5—Sodality, 12.10.
Basketball, Cath. U.
Away.

Feb. 9—Catholic Students' Peace Conference at Notre Dame College.
Basketball: St. John's of Annapolis. At home.

Feb. 11—Contemporaneous History Club meeting to discuss Peace Poll Questions.

Feb. 12—Basketball: Western Md. Away.

Feb. 16—Basketball: Johns Hopkins. Away.

GREYHOUND ANNOUNCES PLANS TO HOLD PEACE POLL MODELED ON LITERARY DIGEST'S NAT. COLLEGE VOTE

DELIVERS LECTURES

REV. JOHN A. FRISCH, S.J.

FR. FRISCH LECTURES ON LIFE HISTORY OF THE ANT

SPEAKS AT STATE NORMAL

Gave Same Lecture At
Gilman School For Instructors

Following his lecture on "The Wasp" given before the Natural History Society of Maryland recently, Father John A. Frisch, head of the Biology Department, has received numerous invitations to speak from various educational institutions in the city.

On January 17, Fr. Frisch spoke on "The Ant" to the instructors and upper school of Gilman Country School, illustrating his talk with lantern slides.

The following week he was the guest of the Maryland State Normal School and gave

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

Dr. R. M. McKinney Speaks On Pigments Before Chem Club

Relates The Importance Of Pigments In The Manufacture Of Paints

Dr. R. M. McKinney, Ph.D., of the Research Laboratory of the Krebs Pigment and Color Corporation, addressed the Chemists' Club on January 15 on "Chemical Problems in Pigment Manufacture."

The speaker said that all paints have two components, a vehicle or medium, and a pigment. The vehicle is some liquid which more or less rapidly changes to a flexible, transparent material, when exposed to the air in thin layers. This change may be the result of oxidation or of evaporation of one of the components.

The pigment is some sub-

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

DIGEST OFFERS COOPERATION

EUGENE F. JENDREK,
EDITOR IN CHIEF, THE
GREYHOUND, BALTO.

GO AHEAD CONDUCT
POLL SEND ME RESULTS
AND ALL THE CLIPPINGS
ON POLL OUT OF YOUR PAPER.

REAGAN McCARRY,
THE LITERARY DIGEST.

The above telegram was received in response to a letter written by the Greyhound to the Literary Digest asking if there was any objection on its part if this paper conducted a poll of Loyola students on the same questions which have been submitted to students in over 100 American colleges in the Peace Poll being conducted by the Literary Digest and the Association of College Editors.

Greyhound's Poll

With assurance of Faculty support and the approval of the Literary Digest, the Greyhound has made plans to conduct its own ballot of Loyola men on those same questions, the answers to which have been tabulated in the official national vote. It was unfortunate that Loyola was not included among those schools which are participating in the official poll, but it was felt nevertheless that the questions would be of such pertinent interest that every student at Evergreen would desire to express his opinion in the Greyhound's poll.

Questions

The five questions asked on the poll ballot, are:

1. Do you believe that the United States could stay out of another great war?
(a) If the borders of the United States were invaded, would you bear arms in defense of your country?
(b) Would you bear arms for the United States in the invasion of the borders of another country?
2. Do you believe that a national policy of an American navy and air force second to none is a sound method of insuring us against being drawn into another great war?
3. Do you advocate government control of armament and munitions industries?
4. In alignment with our his-

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

THE GREYHOUND

LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. VIII Baltimore, Maryland No. 8

Editor-in-Chief

EUGENE F. JENDREK, '36

Managing Editor

LAWRENCE T. MULLEN, '37

Sports Editor

ANDREW E. CICHELLI, '36

Circulation Manager

FRANCIS B. EASTMAN, JR., '36

Advertising Manager

JOSEPH J. MACK, '37

Associate Editors

PHILIP L. DOUGHERTY, '37

JOHN J. DINAN, '36.

Departments

BERNARD B. HOFFMAN, '36

WILLIAM D. MCGONIGLE, '37

THOMAS J. EMORY, '37

CHARLES C. CONLON, '38

JOHN C. OSBORN, '37

News Staff

F. KENNARD DILL, '36

RICHARD T. CAREY, '38

ROBERT B. MAGUIRE, '36

CHARLES FISHER, '38

WILLIAM J. O'DONNELL, '37

PHILIP MCGREEVY, '38

JOHN H. DOLLE, '36

JOSEPH B. AARON, '38

Published Bi-Weekly

Subscription $2.00

Why A Peace Poll?

The announcement that the Greyhound is going to conduct its own Peace Poll, modeled, on that being held on a national scale by the Literary Digest and submitted to 325,000 American college students, is a direct challenge to every Loyola student. No doubt the reason for such a vote will not be apparent at first glance. A movement of this kind has never before been launched by the Greyhound. Such an opportunity and manner of expressing publicly student opinion on world affairs has never been afforded Loyola students. We are going to conduct this poll for the simple reason that we have faith in Loyola as a college, and in Loyola men.

Although our student body is small in number, although we were passed over in the selection of colleges to vote in the official balloting, we want to give public proof that we are able to think and act in a manner that will place Loyola in a favorable light in comparison with other American colleges of high scholastic ranking and repute. A small college does not have to be a small-time college. Here is a chance to give one convincing indication that ours is not a small-time school.

After all, a college man should be capable of independent thought and be able to give adequate reasons for his convictions. It has been said that colleges are mere knowledge factories, a haven of those who have nothing else to do, where nothing of any practical value is ever even mentioned. In training young men to think and act on questions of public policy, the college is aiding in furnishing the state with wide-awake citizens and an intelligent electorate. Such a service is alone a justification for the existence of colleges. By the participation and interest of every student in this poll, we can meet the charge of those who decry college men as mere sociable bums. We can justify in no uncertain manner our being college men.

The fact that the poll will be held at a time when students of Catholic colleges will hold a Peace Conference is a happy coincidence. Both are indications of the intelligent interest which our campuses are taking in political questions.

Since the poll does not permit distinctions in giving the answers or allow reasons for the replies, we wish to offer space to anyone who may wish to debate the conflicting opinions on the poll questions. Our Open Forum is for those who may desire to the help influence the votes of fellow-students.

Space does not permit us to go into the questions fully and explain them. Everyone is asked to read the queries carefully, discuss them thoroughly and then cast an intelligent ballot. We have no intention of influencing the vote in one way or another and will do all in our power to insure the absolute impartiality of the staff members who will conduct the checking of voters and counting of ballots. We will aim to see that everything connected with the poll is done in an unbiased manner, such as the Literary Digest does in its polls, so that we can furnish an accurate comparison between our results and the national vote tabulation.

We are well aware that the success or failure of this pool rests with the student body alone. If it should possibly fail, we will be the first to admit it, and will be forced to do so publicly and frankly in these columns. If it succeeds, we will feel that we have at least some right to say with pride, "The response to the poll shows that Loyola men do think and have the courage to express their convictions."

Campus Clippings

B. B. H.

Paronomasiastic

Oft have I been termed a buffoon, a harlequin, etc. for my contributions to the art of making a friend's heart lighter. Wearied of the heaping of appellations on my head, I sought refuge in the library. There, thought I, can I "beat my friends to the pun-ch" and substantiate my claims for puns and punning by research. In the library I found complete agreement with my arguments.

Herman Melville in "Moby Dick" writes: "However, a good laugh is a mighty good thing, and rather too scarce a good thing; the more's the pity. So, if any one man, in his own proper person, afford stuff for a good joke to anybody, let him not be backward, but let him cheerfully allow himself to spend and be spent in that way. And the man that has anything bountifully laughable about him, be sure there is more in that man than you perhaps think for."

Pope couldn't make up his mind. In the "Art of Sinking" he speaks highly of the pun—"The paronomasia or pun, where a word like the tongue of a jackdaw, speaks twice as much by being split. In another work he writes "A great Critick formerly—declared he that would Pun would pick a Pocket." Such talk! And in depression years! tch, tch.

A certain red-haired Junior has been named an alternate appointee to the U. S. Naval Academy. What, still another Vogel boatman?

Eddie Monroe says that when driving home from college he invariably drives through the crowded sections of the downtown district because he is afraid to be alone. We don't blame him, we too, would hate to be alone with his thoughts!

What famous author's name does a Frenchman utter with his last gasp?

J'expire

All-right don't all rush me at once.

Johnny Wells recently argued that we are experiencing a rather severe winter. What a poor argument! He doesn't have a "lake" to stand upon.

You Freshman, just wait, if you think Frosh English is hard, wait until you get Latin II.

You Sophomores, if you think Latin II is tough, wait until you get Junior Philosophy.

You Juniors, if you think Philosophy is hard this year, wait until you get Ethics. Whew!

You Seniors, if you think Ethics is tough, wait until you get a job. Yeah, just wait and wait.

Evergreen Reflections

T. J. E.

Exam Hangover

He was just a mediocre student. That is one of the reasons why he was worrying. Mediocre students are the only ones that worry. The bright lads know that they passed and so they feel good. The other kind—well, they don't feel at all. Two weeks ago he was fretting his head off. That was just before the exams. He wasn't his usual self. His eyes no longer held that sparkle. Even the curl in his hair had vanished. (Be curl-ful you curly-head lads!) The folks at home commented on his lack of interest, his lack of appetite, and dates. Something was wrong with the boy, they thought. He ought to see a doctor and soon.

* * *

And then came examination week—and exams—and lots of studying—and late hours—and circles under the eyes—and empty fountain pens—and chiseled bluebooks—and of course a good many unanswerable questions. Oh, yes, snow came too. But that is natural in winter. Some of those questions in the orals seemed unnatural. Just like asking a fellow to spell a word without using any letters of the alphabet.

* * *

Anyway, now that they are all over, he feels worse than he did before. He is all in a dither about his marks. He knows he might have done better, especially in that ninth Latin question or that eighth History question. But just the same how can a fellow do better if he doesn't study harder. After due reflection however, he becomes disgusted and resolves not to bother any more. If he flunked, that's too bad. If he passed well, now, what else could a fellow want, or expect, for that matter.

—o—

Peace Polly

Pat wants to know what it is all about. He has heard so much about this Peace Poll that the Literary Digest is conducting in the colleges throughout the country. He says he has never heard of a peace poll. The only kind he has ever come in contact with have been blasphemous polls. How college men ever came to be interested in polls is more than he can understand. He thought that sailors were the only ones who took any interest in polls. "Ye jist can't tell about these indicated peoples" he sez to anyone who will listen to him. "Jist when ye's least expect it they up and grab holt of another hobby. It's jist like thim, too. No one knows what they are looking for, or how they get it. But when they do get what they want they jist ain't satisfied until they can grab something else. Here now they are becoming interested in our polls. And to make it worse they have a new kind that we unicated folks ain't never heard about."

Mike says Pat is a dummy. Mike went to the fifth grade and he feels that he is the scholar of the family. Pat didn't quite get through the third. Mike tries to explain to his brother just what the peace poll is all about. He points out that all the colleges are trying to get the students to keep the peace poll from making so much fuss. He tells Pat that every few years the peace poll makes so much noise that some big organization or paper takes up a collection of names in order to find out if anyone is in favor of the peace poll making a hullabaloo or of keeping quiet. College men as the future leaders of the country are asked to help in keeping the peace poll still. Pat being a dummy easily misunderstands Mike and thinks that he can buy better gin now than any peace poll still could ever make. Being Irishmen and brothers they fight to see who is right and as they are both good fighters they both lose.

—o—

They Are Like That

Daughter was begging for this and that
And mother was hoping to get a new hat
But father said No; and he meant it too
For money was scarce, and the bills were due.

But mother just laughed and that very day
To the milliner's store she wended her way.
And when she came home; you won't have to guess
She had bought a new hat, a coat, and a dress!

GREYHOUND PLANS TO HOLD STUDENT VOTE ON PEACE QUESTION

DIGEST OFFERS COOPERATION
Questionnaire Contains Five Queries Of Political Importance

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5)
toric procedure in drafting man-power in time of war, would you advocate the principle of universal conscription of all resources of capital and labor in order to control all profits in time of war?

5. Should the United States enter the League of Nations?

In order to allow time for sufficient discussion and formulation of intelligent opinion, the balloting will not take place until February 20, the day after the next issue of the Greyhound comes out. The exact time and place will be announced later.

Meanwhile there will be a Peace Conference under the auspices of the Catholic Association for International Peace at Notre Dame of Maryland on February 9. The Contemporaneous History Club of the College has arranged to hold an open forum discussion on the poll questions at its meeting of February 11.

Credit Due

We wish to make it clear that credit for the idea of this poll is due to the Literary Digest and the Association of College Editors. Although Loyola is not a participant in the national poll, our results will be tabulated accurately and submitted for comparison with the official ballot of the Literary Digest.

In reference to the Peace Poll, the Literary Digest says:

"The vast majority of students, college authorities, undergraduate organizations, and, particularly, the college press—all those forces in American colleges are combining, enthusiastically, sincerely, in a concerted effort to make young American men and women think, form an opinion about the factors involved in wiping out war, and having formed an opinion, express it in the Peace Ballot."

"This is an effort to learn the extent of the sentiment in American colleges against jingoism, against war as an instrument of diplomacy, against arrogant nationalism. Long groping, wandering, warring 'peace movements' have begun to seek crystallization, direction.

Similar Movement

"In England, the League of Nations Union is polling every household on five questions designed to crystallize the

FR. HACKER REELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT OF GOETHE SOCIETY

ELECTED FOR THIRD YEAR

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2)

Hacker was the speaker. The topic which he chose for his lecture was: "Goethe, as Viewed by Two Jesuit Critics." The two Jesuits mentioned were Alexander Baumgartner, S.J., who died in 1910; and Friedrich Muckermann, S.J., still living. The speaker compared the works of these two priests concerning Goethe; Baumgartner, who severely criticized the writer, and Muckermann, who wrote in praise of him. The speech, which lasted for about an hour, was enthusiastically received, and Father Hacker was invited to speak again next year.

The President of this Chapter is Professor Kurrelmeyer, head of the German Department at Johns Hopkins. Professor Kurrelmeyer has been th President since the founding of the Maryland Chapter five years ago.

The meetings combine business with pleasure. There are six regular sessions each year, and at these, there is usually a lecture, either by a member or a guest, followed by a social gathering.

The Greyhound wishes to take this opportunity to congratulate Father Hacker on his reelection, and to wish him success in his new term.

anti-war feeling into action. The ballots go to all men and women over eighteen.

"The anti-war sentiment in the United States has made most headway in schools and colleges; it is a part of the growing evidence that the American college generation has begun to think more and speak more about current social and economic trends here and in the world at large.

"Everywhere, press and public are becoming aware of the fact that some sort of conscious movement is under way in American colleges. The Literary Digest, in cooperation with the Association of College Editors, is attempting, through the nation-wide College Peace Poll, to determine the direction of that movement as it fits in with the world-wide movement to wipe out war."

The Daily Illini, student newspaper of the University of Illinois, explains the purpose of the Peace Poll:

"The survey is not being conducted to secure expert opinion on world affairs. It is being made to determine whether students think and what they do think. The primary purpose of the survey is to stimulate student opinion on a subject of real consideration today."

FLASHES

Joseph Feeney, Editor of the Green and Gray, has announced that each of the lower classes will have a Who's Who in the annual worked up in the same manner as that of the Senior Class who recently voted on their members who deserved superlative appellation. The underclass ballot will be held in the near future.

We are glad to report that Miss Catherine McDonald, Registrar of the College, is now well on the road to recovery after recently undergoing a very serious operation.

Just before the Hopkins game, the Alumni Gymnasium was a scene of much activity. One basket was moved in order to increase the size of the playing floor to 89 feet which is one foot less than the maximum allowed. Due to this, the floor lines had to be repainted. Higher powered bulbs were placed in the ceiling lights to do away with the effects of shadow on the court. Credit for carrying out these much-needed improvements is due to Father Jacobs, the Athletic Moderator.

The interior of the Science Building has also been brightened up by the process of receiving a fresh coat of paint during the past few weeks.

HISTORY ACADEMY HEARS TALK ABOUT CATHERINE THE GREAT

MR. P. PHELAN LECTURES

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2)
guards. It was not long before Catherine was exercising her rights as sole ruler of Russia. In 1767 she drew up a code of legislation.

Foreign Policy

In discussing her reign, the speaker had this to say of her foreign policy: "The foreign policy of her reign, which aimed at the expansion of Russia, and from that point of view brilliantly successful, was where Catherine's political activity showed its most splendid side." The members of the Academy then heard of the foreign entanglements into which the Empress stepped; how she waged war with Turkey and Poland; how she ordered troops sent into other countries, all the while ruling Russia with an iron hand.

Reigned 34 Years

Thus did Catherine the Great rule during her thirty-four years as Empress of Russia, and Mr. Phelan, as he drew to the close of his speech, remarked, "Catherine during the last years of her reign, a Catherine resting on her laurels, had much to look back upon. For during her reign the Turkish Empire had entered upon its decline; Poland had been rent asunder; Sweden had been reduced to a third class power; Rome had stance which will reflect much light, that is, is highly opaque, and is usually a white substance. A colored pigment is added if a colored paint is desired.

Dr. R. M. McKinney Speaks On Pigments Before Chem Club

Relates The Importance Of Pigments In The Manufacture Of Paints

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 4)

"It is the white pigment," said Dr. McKinney, "that gives body to the paint and on it depends what is called the 'hiding power' of the paint."

White lead is the oldest pigment and is still used to a great extent, but the speaker stated that today we are getting away from white lead in favor of titanium oxide, a comparatively new pigment that has been manufactured since the war.

Titanium Oxide

Titanium oxide is obtained from an ore mined in the State of Travancore, India and shipped to Baltimore for refining. The process of extracting the ore is one of the most complicated in inorganic chemistry, taking about a week to free it from impurities.

It is sold by the Krebs Company to many of the large paint concerns and to other industries for use in the opacifying of paper, the delustering of rayon, and the whitening of transparent substances such as cellophane.

"The strong point of titanium oxide is its hiding power, while that of white lead is its durability, and so most paint manufacturers prefer to combine the two to obtain the advantages of both."

"Titanium oxide is steadily increasing in sales and uses. We are now selling 40 to 50 tons per year, and it is destined to become one of the large chemical industries," said Dr. McKinney in conclusion.

Next Lecture

At the next meeting of the Chemists' Club on Feb. 19, Dr. Maurice L. Huggins, Ph.D., Johns Hopkins University, will discuss "Application of X-Rays to Chemical Problems."

been forced to recognize Russia. Frederick had come to do Russia's bidding, and most of Germany's princely courts had fallen under Russia's influence. The territory of Russia was practically as great as it had been in the past."

FEB. 22 IS DATE SET FOR ANNUAL CRUSADE DANCE

MARYLAND CASUALTY SCENE

Dick Moul And His Weldon Hall Orchestra Will Be Featured

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3)
being solicited for three dollars including ticket. They may be obtained from Joseph Mack and Eugene Jendrek.

The name of Dick Moul and his Weldon Hall Orchestra may sound strange to dancers in this section because these musicians are from the vicinity of Harrisburg, in the heart of the Pennsylvania college region, where they have gained their reputation playing for such schools as Bucknell, Duquesne, Lafayette and Lehigh. The acclaim with which Dick Moul has been hailed at these places has induced the Crusaders to bring his orchestra of twelve pieces with a featured feminine vocalist to Baltimore for this dance. The style of their musical arrangements does not follow that of nationally known orchestras but is uniquely their own. Since this is their first local appearance they will be on their mettle to give local dancers a real musical treat.

Nothing need be said about the Maryland Casualty Ballroom since it has been the scene of other Crusade Dances and is memorable to all Loyola men after last year's Junior Prom. Its splendid dance floor will be thronged with students from all the Catholic high schools and colleges in the city, and their friends, on Washington's Birthday from nine till one.

THOMAS F. CARNEY
Restaurant
23 LIGHT STREET
CALVERT 5739
Baltimore, Maryland

GUMNICK'S

Confections

Cigars -:- Candy
2026 E. LOMBARD ST.

Courtesy Of

WILL'S DAIRY

Quick Service
CHICK BELL'S LUNCH
36th ST. AT FRISBY
Beer On Draught
C. BELL, '33, Prop.

Telephone: UNIVERSITY 3500

GEO. J. STORCK & SON

LUMBER

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Flooring, Wallboard, etc.
2406-18 GREENMOUNT AVENUE

Alumni Doings

W. D. McG.

Although we may feel a little 'hors de combat' now that the exams are over, we must get back to work and turn over a few more pages in the scrap book of the alumni.

I doubt if any of us can forget Wednesday, January 23. Who could, when it called forth all the chains and earmuffs, and ice, etc. Maybe this time next year we will, but not George Renehan, '18, because on that day his wife presented him with a baby girl. Congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Renehan!

* * *

Another Alumnus is saying "Meet the Missus". On the twelfth of January, Edgar Steffee, '34, and Miss Mary Murphy were married. Best wishes, Edgar; and go easy on the frying pans, Mrs. Steffee!

Rev. Edwin L. Leonard, '10, a member of the executive board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, attended a three-day meeting of that body during the week of January twenty-seventh, in Washington, D. C. Father Leonard is also Archdiocesan Director of Catholic Charities and pastor of St. Bernard's Catholic Church.

Rooters

Whether we win or lose, we can always be sure to find some of the alumni present to give the team their support. However their presence at the Hopkins game was not in vain. Among those present to cheer the Greyhound quint to victory were:

Jack Cummings, '26, former basketball star of Loyola.

Ray Spellissy, '27, Bernard McCormick, '32, Walt Dunne, Joe Morisi and Al Petersam, all of '34.

We see by the papers where Robert Lee Slingluff, '29, passed the Maryland State Bar Exams. Congratulations, Attorney, and lots of luck!

Robert B. Bouchelle, '30, was recently appointed to the position of life insurance counselor to the local agency of the Home Life Insurance Company of New York.

Congratulations, Bob, best of luck!

William A. Queen, ex '37, is now employed by the local office of the Ratford-Sanders Millwork Company.

William F. Holmes, of the same class, is employed by the Muth Drug Company.

Sympathy

The fathers of two of our alumni died recently. Mr. Martin M. Spellissy, father of Ray Spellissy, '27, died on January twenty-eighth. Mr. Delia Rudolph, father of Harry Rudolph, '30, died recently. To these two alumni we extend our deepest expression of sympathy.

SAAR PLEBISCITE DISCUSSED BY CONTEMPORARY HISTORY CLUB

PHELAN OPENS DISCUSSION

The Saar Plebiscite was the subject discussed at the last meeting of the Contemporary History Club. No formal speeches were given on this topic which has been of such world-wide interest during the past six weeks, but rather extemporaneous speaking from the floor by different members was the order followed.

Opens Meeting

Mr. Patrick Phelan, the President of the Club, opened the meeting with brief introductory remarks about the Saar Territory and its place in the world scene of today. Its 726 square miles are populated with approximately 136,000 people. Mining is the chief source of employment, giving work to about 67,000 men. The Treaty of Versailles gave France access to the territory for a period of fifteen years in return for the damage done to French mines during the World War by Germany, to whom the land belonged before the war.

Since the Saarites chose to return to Germany in preference to remaining under the League of Nations or going under the French tri-color, one of the chief points brought up was what kind of conditions would exist there under Nazi rule. Catholics make up a majority of the population and there are also some Jews and Communists in the Saar. These are three elements which have had anything but peaceable relations with Hitlerism.

Conflicting Aspects

It was the opinion of most of those present that it was a logical thing for the Saar to be pro-German, since the League lacked enforcing ability and Germans would not want to be under French rule, but they said there would be difficulty in reconciling the religious and political elements. The economic aspect was also brought up, since in recent years the Saar Basin has been dependent upon ore from Lorraine for its smelters. A reciprocal trade agreement was suggested as a remedy for this. It was also brought out that French francs, backed by gold, would have to be exchanged by Saarlanders for the mark and that they would possibly face

Mr. J. B. Kirby, President Of Safe Deposit And Trust, Dies

Loyola has lost another of her illustrious alumni. On Monday, January 28, Mr. Joseph B. Kirby, President of The Safe Deposit and Trust Company, died suddenly of a heart attack. Mr. Kirby attended Loyola when the College was on Calvert Street. In later life he became active in banking, becoming Vice-President, and finally, President of the firm.

Benefactor

Mr. Kirby had other activities outside the business line, and was Secretary of the Financial Board of the Catholic University, and a benefactor of Loyola.

Four of his sons have attended Loyola: Joseph Kirby, '18; John Kirby, '30; Carroll Kirby, ex '23, and Bernard Kirby, S.J., ex '25, now at Woodstock College.

The Requiem Mass was said on January 31, by Msgr. Louis R. Stickney, Pastor of the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, Mt. Washington.

The Greyhound extends its sympathy to the family of the deceased.

SHORT SHOTS

And now that the exams are over, ask Charles B. Kelly to tell you what fun he had at the Orals. (Maybe we should wait till the marks roll in.)

* * *

One of the College wits has suggested that now, since Bernie Hoffman is the Campus Clipper, that his column should be subtitled "All In A Big Huff."

* * *

And, talking about exams, the "Campionette" has two boxes at the top of the paper, in which is written: "Here's to success—in all the exams." Well, that's all over now, so all we can say is: "Here's to success—in all your CONDITIONS."

difficulty in obtaining food since the Saar is not an agricultural region and has been receiving its food from France.

At its next meeting on February 11 the Club will hold another open forum discussion on the questions to be answered in the Greyhound Peace Poll. The meeting will be open to all the student body, thus giving them an opportunity to air their views on the queries, since the nature of the balloting will preclude the possibility of discussion or giving of reasons on the voting slips.

FR. FRISCH LECTURES ON LIFE HISTORY OF THE ANT

SPEAKS AT STATE NORMAL

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 4)

the same lecture before an assembly of 350 students and faculty members.

That the lectures were well received was evidenced by the interest shown by the audience. Speaking without notes, Fr. Frisch presented the life and activities of the ant-world in a manner so fascinating that these lowly insects no longer seem inconsequential.

"An ant hill is but the dome of a mighty city that extends for many a foot below the surface of the soil, its vast network of streets descending deeper and branching the more as they pass lower and lower," said Fr. Frisch. "And the busy life that bustles along its highways: The queen moves along in state, surrounded by her attendants; the nurses carry the young to and from the nursery, arranging them in separate chambers according to their age and size. All through the city ants are at work enlarging the roads and extending them to meet the demands of the growing colony. Other ants are bringing home food, whilst still others are conveying the remains of the last banquet to the refuse pile above ground."

Among the peculiarities of the anatomy of the ant are the two stomachs, one a "personal" stomach and the other a "social" stomach. The foraging ants are thus able not only to feed themselves but also to bring back food for their stay-at-home sisters.

"Ants are great domesticators of other animals and keep more kinds of flocks than we do."

The most interesting of these is the aphid, the so-called ant cow. With its pointed proboscis it bores a hole through the bark of some tree and draws in the sweet sap. The waste product still contains a high percentage of sugar, of which the ants are especially fond. And so we find the ant-milkmaids milking the aphids and hurrying back to the nest to share the sweets with the "housewife" ants. The aphids are most tenderly cared for, the ants even building mud sheds to protect them from the sun.

Frequent mention was made of the work of Fr. Wasman, S.J. who has contributed to our knowledge as much as all other authors combined.

For their size ants are tremendously strong. Suspended by one leg an ant has supported a weight 3000 times heavier than herself by her jaws. A man as strong as bishop at the throne and later was deacon at the Solemn Pontifical Benediction.

Archbishop Presidents Awards To Loyolans At Mission Rally

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3)

A special military unit of the Maryland National Guard, which also was to have led the parade preceding the services, stood before the sanctuary rail, and as the Blessed Sacrament was raised by Archbishop Curley in Benediction, the Guardsmen saluted Our Savior. Three rollings of the military drums instead of the customary sanctuary bells signified that Our Savior was being raised aloft for the adoration of the faithful.

Awards Presented

One of the high lights of the rally was the presentation by the Archbishop of awards for outstanding labors on behalf of the missions during the past year. Father Risacher was one of those receiving the Paladin Jewel which is awarded by the national body for noteworthy work. F. Alfred Petersam, who graduated from Loyola last year, was one of the recipients of the Archbishop's Medal which is conferred for meritorious labors in the Maryland Mission field.

After awarding the various decorations, the Archbishop spoke to the Crusaders briefly, expressing his gratitude to them for the help they have given to the home and foreign missions by their prayers and contributions, and urging their spiritual development as a means of extending the faith.

While not neglecting the foreign missions, the Archbishop stressed the dire needs of our own Maryland missions, citing many interesting and startling cases.

this would be able to hang by one leg from a trapeze and sustain with his teeth eight freight cars loaded with iron!

And ants are not without their purpose in the scheme of things. They are among the greatest scavengers of the earth, removing noxious matter from the ground and converting it into useful fertilizer.

The slave-raids, the "insect-guests," development, the soldier-sentries and many other phases of ant-life portrayed by Fr. Frisch, we must regretfully leave to your imagination, and conclude with Father Wasman: "that in the architecture of its home, in its care for its brood; in its methods of foraging and storing its food, and in its protection of its home, the ant of all the animal kingdom, approaches closest to the human."

Chick's Chatter

A. E. C.

Ups And Downs

The past few days have been quite hectic ones for Coach Liston's boys. Four league games are completed and already the home quintet has shown itself of championship calibre. It is true that these settos have been extremely close (too close for comfort for ye olde editor who has enough nerve trouble notwithstanding—exam results, you know); but after all, if life were all pie and honey, there would be no spice in it and no meaning to it. Such is the case with basket ball; some days it has its ups, and other days is downs. It was "down" when Mt. St. Mary's trimmed the 'Hounds in their league opener; but, oh how sweet rang the din of the rooters in my ears as Loyola basket-ball goes 'ups' in her triumphs over Johns Hopkins and Washington College. The Blue Jays, who displayed much better form than at any time this season, had Bill Liston kind of worried as they persisted in making shots from out of nowhere. Rasin was the chief offender in that pastime. The other victory was especially pleasing in that the Maroons had been leading the league with three wins and no losses previous to the battle. This scrap was a close as Colvin's hair cut, and only wide-awake playing enabled us to pull through unscathed. The squad must be commended highly on winning these major tussles. Tonight we should accompany the team to C. U. to see our rejuvenated team endeavor to hold on to its "ups."

The game at Emmitsburg was, as an article in the last issue predicted, "as tough as usual" for the Greyhounds—as a matter of fact, it was a little too tough for the boys. After a stirring battle, the Malloymen eked out their first win of the season at our expense by the slim margin of two points. The first half was all the Mount's with Tom Lynch and Sagadelli running wild. The second half, however, was a complete reversal of the first with Loyola finally finding itself, only it was too late to have any effect on the ultimate outcome. That, of course, was a bad dose of medicine to swallow; but one which, I am sure, did the boys a world of good. As a result, over-confidence which I believe was instrumental in the defeat is a thing of the past (clearly demonstrated by the games with Hopkins, Washington College, and Western Maryland.) The important thing to remember, now that four league games are over, is that Loyola has better than an outside chance of coping the crown. If you recall, the title was won two years ago by Mt. St. Mary's after losing a tilt to our 'Hounds; and it was won last year by Western Maryland which lost two league games out of eight. This year, when ten games are being played, there is a possibility for a team to lose three and still become State champions. As the race looks at present the winner will be one of these three: Washington, St. John's, or Loyola. In this connection, I would be willing to wager (if only I were of the wagering kind) that good old Green and Gray will be in the running up until the last contest.

* * *

What About This?

Recently in "Shootin' Em" of the Evening Sun there appeared a few words to the effect that Sagadelli of Mt. St. Mary's and Lambros of St. John's seemed to be the best looking college prospects of the State. I wonder if "Shootin' Em" has seen the Greyhounds in action. If so, I cannot see how he could overlook the sterling play of our two guards, Charley Wayson and Tom Carney. The former, though he is only a freshman and very light (140 lbs. to be exact), has been performing consistently and at times brilliantly. We can not help but experience a momentous chill up and down the spinal column and then a feeling of intense satisfaction as we recall that final goal of Charley's in the Hopkins fray. It was made with the same calm and deliberate demeanor which has characterized his play all along. And Tom Carney, who is a sophomore and not much heavier than Charley, is branded by every opponent in the league as "extra dangerous." Tom is a clever player, an accurate passer and an excellent shot; and above all, he does not let size worry him. Schmarr of Catholic University is well aware of that! By the way, That boy, too, is only a sophomore, and is he good, and how! He is such a good player that Coach Cotton was obliged to use him as regular in the place of Captain Augusterfer. Coming back to Tom, I want to say that he is the kind of a fellow who doesn't quit; in fact, he doesn't know what it means to stop fighting. If the team falters, he plays that much harder in an effort to help the team regain its poise. Yes sir, Tom is in the midst of a very fine year with two more good years of play ahead of him.

Mounts Play Inspired Ball To Trim Greyhounds For First Win

Malloymen, Led By Tom Lynch Bewilder Loyola With Early Attack

Ragged play in the first half cost Loyola the game with Mt. St. Mary's. Time and time again the Loyola players passed directly into the hand of eager Malloymen. Meanwhile the Mount, taking advantage of Loyola errors, coupled clever passing and accurate shooting to amass a ten point advantage at half time. The first half, the Mt. St. Mary's defense functioned smoothly in the small gym for which the school is noted, and Loyola encountered great difficulty in getting inside for set shots.

In the second half, Loyola began to find itself and displayed more fight. Tom Carney was the most aggressive player on the floor and he carried the Loyola attack practically single-handed, hitting the webbing for twelve points. However, the Mount had a fairly safe advantage and the closest Loyola ever got was two points, and that by virtue of Wayson's field goal from mid-court just as the final whistle blew. Sagadelli was high scorer, but Tom Lynch was the best player on the court. He was the spearhead of the attack due to his splendid passing, while he garnered four field goals for himself. Loyola was well represented by rooters.

COLLEGE FIVE BOWS TO SMART C. U. TEAM BY SCORE OF 35-19

GAME IN CAPITOL TONIGHT

In a game quite disappointing to Loyola fans, Catholic University, using weight and cleverness to a decided advantage, defeated Loyola 33 to 19 at Evergreen. Led by Babe Gearty and Herman Schmarr, the Cardinals built up an early lead that clearly stamped them as the ultimate victors.

Loyola, entirely off form, made only six goals from the floor, while C. U., showing superior passing and shooting, gradually increased their early 10-4 margin, till at one time late in the game they threatened to double the score. The playing and shooting of Tom Carney against his huge opponent was the bright spot in the Loyola defeat. Carney was high scorer for the Greyhounds with 8 points while Gearty with 11, led C. U.

In the preliminary game, the Freshmen waged a nip and tuck battle with Boys' Latin, until the last few seconds of play, when Lentz, Frosh forward, sank a field goal from mid-court to give his team a 25-24 victory.

BASKET-BALL TEAM GAINS NOTABLE VICTORIES OVER WASH. COLLEGE, 32-28; AND JOHNS HOPKINS, 35-34

TEAM IMPRESSIVE IN WIN

VICTORY WELL DESERVED

Advantage Held Throughout In Important Skirmish With Shoremen

Lead Is Exchanged Six Times In Classic Struggle Replete With Thrills

In a game which had an important bearing on the Maryland Collegiate League title our gamboling Greyhounds nosed out the Flying Pentagon from Chestertown by 32-28. The game was a nerve tinger all through and only superior foul line shooting saved the college five.

At the outset, goals were matched almost one by one, neither team ever going ahead more than four points. Play in the first half was particularly good with Salters and Horowitz of the Sho'men contributing spectacular shots. However, Loyola had its share of brilliancy as Carney and Colvin made several beautiful double-deckers from beneath the basket on the bee-line passes of their teammates. This ended with the Green and Gray holding the lead at 15-12, Ferrarini making the odd point on his try from the foul line.

Game Won On Fouls

The spectators, having already been treated to a fast and furious beginning, were prepared for what was to follow and whooped it up from here until the end of the game. After the intermission, Kelley, the lanky freshman, replaced the shorter Ferrarini and distinguished himself by clever work in capturing rebounds. As for the play itself, it was as heated as before; in fact, it was so spirited that each team was repeatedly forced into errors. Those that hurt were the committing of fouls. That is to say, they hurt Washington who lost because it could sink only half as many free throws as Loyola. The score, one minute before the gong, was 32-24; but the Maroons began closing the gap as Loyola could not obtain the ball at the tap in order to freeze it. The team was very impressive in its victory.

BOX SCORE

	Loyola
	G.	F.	T.
Colvin	3	1- 1	7
Ferrarini	0	2- 2	2
Kelley	1	1- 3	3
Tanneyhill	..	1- 1	9
Carney	3	1- 1	7
Wayson	1	2- 2	4
Totals	12	8-10	32

Washington

	Washington
	G.	F.	T.
Salters	4	2- 3	10
Horowitz	4	2- 3	10
Evans	0	0- 1	0
Skipp	2	0- 1	4
McLain	0	0- 1	0
Wilmot	0	0- 1	0
Huffman	2	0- 0	4
Totals	12	4-10	28

Hopkins

	Hopkins
	G.	F.	T.
Siegel	4	2- 3	10
Siverd	2	2- 3	6
Chancellor	3	1- 2	7
Reynolds	0	1- 5	1
Woodrow	2	0- 0	4
Rasin	3	0- 0	6
Totals	14	6-13	34

Loyola

	Loyola
	G.	F.	T.
Ferrarini	3	1- 2	7
Kelly	0	0- 1	0
Colvin	3	3- 3	9
Tanneyhill	2	0- 1	4
Carney	5	1- 1	11
Wayson	2	0- 0	4
Totals	15	5- 8	35

Intramural Basketball Begins; Ten Teams Competing For Title

Last Year's Champs Win Over
Soph B. S. Team, 45-5.
Frosh A. B. Win

The long awaited and much talked about intramural basketball competition began the week preceding exams. Inasmuch as the varsity has been playing since December, the students were anxious to perform on the various class teams. Ten teams, comprising two each from Senior and Junior, and three each from Sophomore and Freshman, are seeking the honor of being called "CLASS CHAMPS." Last year's winner, "The Senior Champs" got off to a good start by swamping the Soph B. S. team, 45-5, while the Swishers lost to the Freshman A.B., 24-16, and Soph A.B. defeated the Rambling Recks, 38-13. Two other games scheduled the same week were postponed and will be played when action is resumed after the exams.

COLLEGES TO ATTEND CATHOLIC STUDENTS' PEACE CONFERENCE

MEETING AT NOTRE DAME

Jack Cochrane, Senior Will
Speak As Representative
Of Loyola College

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)
"Moral Causes Of War."

Janet Dougherty, '36, of Rosemont College: "Executive Nationalism As A Possible Cause Of Future War."

Francis A. Weigand, '36, of St. Mary's Seminary: "The Church And World Peace." Elaine Longua, '35 of Trinity College: "The Peace of Christ."

After these talks informal discussion will follow, in which the delegates will exchange their views and present their opinions on the matter under consideration.

Dr. Bowen To Talk

Following this there will be a luncheon meeting, at which the following speakers will talk:

Reverend Charles G. Herzog, S.J., Woodstock College: "A Justifiable War."

H. Lee Bowen, Ph.D. of Loyola College and Johns Hopkins: "The Meaning Of 'Danger Spots'."

Miss Anna Dill Gamble, Chairman, Latin America Committee, Catholic Association for International Peace, Washington, D. C.: "Our South American Neighbors."

Parker Moon

In the afternoon session, the Conference will be addressed by Parker Moon, an outstanding authority on international affairs. Dr. Moon is Professor of History at Columbia University, and also Chairman of the Economics Committee of the Catholic Association for International Peace. He is familiar to the student as an author of history text-books. The speakers in the afternoon session will be:

Reverend Raymond A. McGowan, Assistant Director, Department of Social Ac-School of Social Service, tion, National Catholic Washington, D. C.: "The Catholic Association For International Peace: Its Purpose And Work."

Parker T. Moon, Ph.D., Columbia University, New York City.: "Imperialism and War."

The conference will be open not only to the students of the participating colleges, but also to the general public.

Alumni and Students—
Attend the Basketball
Games. Support
Your Team.

FRESHMEN OFFER NOVELTIES AT ANNUAL MID-TERM HOP

ROUSTON'S ORCHESTRA

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

only vaguely familiar even to upper classmen. So, strike another one off in favor of the Freshmen for this revival of school spirit.

The Freshmen have gotten off to a good start, and if their Sophomore Frolique next year measures up to the record of the Hop, by the time the Senior Ball comes along, they'll be getting headlines in the newspapers!

Five Hundred -:- Bingo -:- Bridge

CARD PARTY

to be held at

LOYOLA COLLEGE, EVERGREEN
CHARLES STREET and COLD SPRING LANE

Tuesday, February 19, 1935, 8:30 P. M.

TICKETS 50 CENTS—Tax Exempt
Attractive Door Prize

Private Bus From and To No. 11 Car

all gone—
you're telling me
they satisfy?

On the air—

MONDAY	WEDNESDAY	SATURDAY
LUCREZIA	LILY	RICHARD
BORI	PONS	BONELLI
KOSTELANETZ ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS
9 P. M. (E. S. T.)—COLUMBIA NETWORK		